

14. An apparatus for protecting one or more electrical pin connectors on a circuit board comprising:

- 02 B7
- (a) a housing means for defining an interior cavity and for receiving at least one pin connector;
 - (b) a mechanism for removably securing the housing means over the pin connector; and
 - (c) a mechanism for aligning the interior cavity of the housing means with the pin connector.

Please add the following claims:

02 B7 21. The apparatus of claim 1 in combination with a pin connector disposed within the interior cavity of the housing.

22. The apparatus of claim 1 in combination with a pin connector disposed within the interior cavity of the housing means.